

Reading Log: Books I've Read

Did you know that President Harry S. Truman once said, "Not all readers are leaders, but all leaders are readers." Reading is one of the greatest investments you can make in yourself. Every book has the potential to teach you something new, challenge your thinking, encourage your heart, or inspire you to take your next step. Every page helps you become a little wiser than you were the day before. Use this reading log to keep track of the books you've completed, the authors who have inspired you, and how you would rate each one. My hope is that this printable encourages you to read more!
